The Erie (Pa.) Evening Herald, of Friday last, has an article on the Champion that will prove to be pleasant reading to ur citizens. It is as follows: What a revolution has taken place during the past few years in harvesting ma-chinery! A farmer nowadays can harvest his wheat, oats and barley crop with great-er ease than be could ride to town for pleasare twenty years ago. A cradle for reap-ing is now a relic of the past, and the oldfashioned scythe hangs upon the wall for the progressive farmer to smile at as he passes by. The inventive genius of men seems to have known no bounds in the get-ting up of harvesting machinery, and so perfect has it become that grain of all kinds is now handled not only with greater dis-patch, but with a much greater saving of grein as well.

The Champion reaper, binder and mower representatives have made an extensive display here this year and they have had bings all their own way so far as making sales are concerned. They are largely in the lead. Whether it is the merits of the machines or owing to the gentlemanly manner of the Champion representatives, no one of course knows, but the fact is undis-puted that actual sales are almost wholly upon the side of the Champion. This comnany throw down the gauntlet and chal-lenge the world to equal the Champion light nder. This is strong talk, but those who talk it profess to back it up, and the manner in which they have disposed of machines at the fair here is evidence that farmers in Every one of them has been sold esides taking orders for several more, and the purchasers are all residents of Erie county. Glessner group of shops, with the new maleable iron foundry and bar and knife shops, do compose the largest reaper and mower factory in the world, outside of Springfield. Champion shops here, we surely beat the world. We may say in connection with this that one of our most intelligent and conservative manufacturers declares that, by the first of January we shall have as many men working in our several factories as were working here on last first of Janulouses, which will increase as the season adances, and in the spring work will comthe new market house and city hall, and other buildings. The coming year will be a lively one in Springfield and everybody should get ready to hustle himself and try to keep up with the procession.

lauded by a lot of Methodist ministers in New York, in a letter to his archbishop, printed December 20, 1886, said:

My doctrine about the land has been made clear in speeches, in reported interviews, and in published articles, and I repeat it here. The men were directly beneath us, seated close together, and were smoking as they counted the money.

We had but one way to attack. Luckily for us it was a straight descent. I could have dropped a coin fair upon the hat of the man beneath me. We were out upon a rocky shelf, but there were loose stones of all sizes all about us. I selected one weighing about twenty-five pounds, the miner got one equally as large, and we carefully crept back to the edge with them. It was a horrible sight, and one I do not care to describe. Our rocks had fallen squarely down on their heads, and you can imagine the result. There was a dry, airy cave but a few feet away, and the gang had made the place a rendezvous for a long time. We recovered every dollar our coach had been robbed of and more than as much again, which had been taken from others. The zave had a big supply of firearms, blan-kets and provisions, and in a mail bag hanging on the wall were ten gold and silver watches. We got altogether six-teen watches, five or six valuable pins and firearms worth at least $600. We not only secured the wealth, but we made T. A. LEWIS, an even divide and kept every dollar of it. An attempt was made in Stockton to compel us to "divvy" with several people who had been robbed, but it was a failure. The Correct Time. There are very few men who do not pride themselves on always having the correct time; and wonderful and delicate mechanisms are devised to enable them to do so. But the more delicate a chronometer is made, the more subject it becomes to derangement, and unless it be kept always perfectly clean. It soon loses its usefulness. What wonder, then, that the human machine—so much more delicate and intricate than any work of man-should require to be kept thoroughly cleansed. The liver is the main-spring of this complex structure, and on the impuri-ties left in the blood by a disordered liver, depend most of the ills that flesh is heir to. Even consumption (which is lung-scrofula) is traceable to the imperfect action of this organ. Kidney diseases, skin diseases, sick headache, heart disease, dropsy, and a long catalogue of grave maladies have their origin in a torpid, or sluggish liver Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, by St. Delt'GLAS establishing a healthy, normal action of the liver, acts as a cure and preventive of these
